-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1,34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Natarajan et al.

Natarajan teaches that both electrical and mechanical sensors can be used in the detection of myocardial ischemia, see paragraph 22 for example. Also, as taught in paragraph 27, the user is given an indication of an ischemic condition.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 50 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Natarajan et al in view of Siegel et al '426.

Natarajan teaches all of the subject matter of the above claims except the explicit mention of quantifying a degree of ischemia. The patent to Siegel teaches such a method. It would have been obvious to use such quantification step with the device of Natarajan so that the treating patient and/or physician will be aware of the severity of the ischemia and take appropriate action, thus possibly saving the patient's life.

5. Claims 25-27,51-53,55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Natarajan in view of Olson '084.

Natarajan teaches all of the subject matter of the above claims except the explicit mentioning of determining the location of ischemic tissue. Olson teaches such a technique to locate the ischemic tissue, see especially column 10, lines 35+. It would have been obvious to utilize such with the invention of Natarajan in order to enable the treating physician to provide proper treatment to the effected area.
